Farns is a gifted teacher; the ego state strategies I've learned from him have been invaluable in getting to the deeper and often unconscious layers that can keep clients stuck. I have found ego state therapy to tremendously benefit child, adolescent, and adult clients, even those for whom other treatment strategies have been unsuccessful. There is nothing like ego state therapy to help you and your clients make sense of behaviors and patterns that previously seemed incomprehensible, and that provides a gateway to healing and change.

Stacie Davis, EMDRIA Certified Therapist, Virginia Beach VA

My deepest gratitude for the skills, tools and practicum I received at your May 2016 Introduction to Ego State Therapy, Structural Dissociation and EMDR Therapy training/workshop. Farns, your workshop successfully put together many years of practice, theory and skills that paved the way for me to learn more rapidly and thoroughly—how to help myself, so to help my patients who have been stuck in PTSD/DID. Nowhere in my MSW training from a Chicago University (1990s), nor in the many excellent modalities I have studied since then, has any one training/workshop come near helping me identify, organize, conceptualize and treat Dissociative Disorders in such a concrete way. Gerri, Chicago IL

OVERVIEW:

This two-day workshop will provide participants who have completed EMDR basic training with an introduction to Structural Dissociation and Ego State Therapy theory and when it is useful or necessary to use these two frameworks with clients being treated within an EMDR/Adaptive Information Processing Approach. From an AIP perspective, ego states are distinct neuronal networks in the brain. Each has a more or less distinct sense of self. Participants will leave the workshop with experience using the Dissociative Table and ten specific tools to facilitate work with clients' aspects of selves.

Each day will feature a lecture format in the morning. Both afternoons will begin with a live demonstration of the Dissociative Table Technique with a volunteer. Then participants will have the supervised practicum opportunity to work in triads learning to use the Dissociative Table Technique (often called the Conference Room or Meeting Place) for themselves, as well as case consultation on child, adolescent and adult clients with complex PTSD and dissociative diagnoses other than DID. (Dissociative Identity Disorder will be addressed in the additional Monday workshop.) These complex clients can be treated successfully using modifications of the EMDR Protocol but without deviation in Phases 3-6.

Participants will be strongly encouraged to complete recommended readings, sent by email, before the workshop. These include powerful transcripts of actual Ego State Therapy sessions with my clients, used with permission.

Farnsworth Lobenstine, LICSW is on the national faculty of the EMDR Institute, serving since 2001 as a Facilitator. He has been an EMDRIA Approved Consultant since 2003 and a Trauma Recovery (HAP) Facilitator since 2005. For the tenth year he is teaching an academic year-long Advanced Seminar on the Integration of Structural Dissociation and Ego State Therapy with EMDR Therapy in Western Massachusetts. Farnsworth began his study of Ego State Therapy and dissociation in 2001. Since 2013, he has presented sold out workshops around the country.

He co-authored a lengthy article published in the Journal of EMDR Practice and Research in 2013 on his highly successful brief, intensive treatment, using EMDR and Ego State Therapy with a woman who had been hospitalized.

Farnsworth is passionate about the extraordinary privilege of working as a psychotherapist, walking for a time with others on their journey towards health and a vibrant life. He is equally passionate about teaching EMDR trained clinicians advanced skills so they can succeed with their most complex clients.

This program is sponsored by the Massachusetts Psychological Association (MPA). MPA is approved by the American Psychological Association to sponsor continuing education for psychologists. MPA maintains responsibility for this program and its content.

Learning Objectives:

1. Describe several core concepts of Ego State Therapy that make EMDR more effective with complex trauma clients.
2. Assess how Fraser's Dissociative Table Technique (often called the Conference Room or Meeting Place) facilitates work with aspects of self.
3. Demonstrate beginning confidence using the Conference Room or Meeting Place with clients through your own supervised practica experience.
4. Apply knowledge gained to several of your complex trauma and/or dissociative clients.
5. Discuss when to use several specific techniques in EMDR work with parts of the personality.
6. Utilize successful strategies for honoring hostile introjects' protective intentions and gaining their alliance.
7. Explain the usefulness of the Tip of the Finger Strategy in reducing the vehement emotion held by Emotional Parts of the Personality to facilitate EMDR treatment.
